TAX LEVY FOR COUNTY VOTED BY CO. BOARD

Supervisors Finish Business Friday and Adjourn

The Lee county board of supervisors adjourned last evening at 6 o'clock after a four day session and an effort to launch another spur roadway from West Brooklyn was left on the table without any action being taken. In a resolution presented by the road and bridge committee an appropriation of $22,392.92 was sought for this purpose, to which was to be added the sum of $3,607.08, representing gas tax funds due the county.

County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake told the board that there was now available the sum of $9,539.24, representing state gas tax refund money to Lee county, and that the proposed spur roadway from West Brooklyn, adding that in the event that this money was taken away from the counties, Lee county would be left "holding the bag." With this explanation, Supervisor Henry Knetch presented a motion to table the resolution, bringing a second from Supervisor Leon Hart, the board voting unanimously in favor of this action.

The board recessed for almost an hour in mid-afternoon to permit the finance committee to complete its reports. The annual levy resolution was presented in which the sum of $82,792.00, a sum not to exceed 22 cents on the $100 valuation of all properties, was voted by the board. The county highway fund was set at $38,000, the county tuberculosis sanatorium fund $80,000; mother's pension fund $10,000. A special appropriation of $12,476.90 was voted by the board to be used in balancing funds for the year just closed in which a deficit existed. The sum of $5000 was appropriated by the board to meet the deficit in the mother's pension fund and permit the payment of the 1934 orders.

The county home committee's recommendation, reducing from $3 to $2 per person the amount of board charges the various townships for inmates of the infirmary was adopted.

The board voted unanimously in supporting the recommendation of the road and bridge committee, providing for the installation of an accounting system in the office of the county superintendent of highways as required by the state department of highways, to be used in accounting for the county's gas tax refund amounts. Superintendent Leake told the board that no extra help would be required, and the board voted to pay money from the gas tax refund to pay for the new equipment.

George B. Erwin of this city was employed by the board to conduct the biennial audit of the accounts of the various offices, for which he is to be paid the sum of $400. The committee received bids from other auditing firms for this service.

The purchasing committee recommended to the board the purchase of a new car.

Things Look Bad for McDonough Co. Hospital Patient

Macomb, Ill., Sept. 15—(AP)—Things looked serious for Roy Shanor for a time Friday.

Confined to a hospital for more than a year with an infection in his knees, he was wheeled before the county board of supervisors, with the statement:

"He's yours."

The board, which had rejected several bills from the hospital on the ground that no supervisor had authorized the care of the man, again defeated a motion to pay the bill and returned the man to the hospital.

TRIO OF DIXON BOYS ALLEGED BIKE THIEVES

Apprehended East of Freeport on Way to Rockford

Walter Imfeld, 15; Leo Imfeld, 13 and Keeling Hobbs, 15, were taken in custody by Freeport motorcycle police and state highway officers yesterday afternoon as they left that city headed toward Rockford at the request of Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber after an investigation into the theft of three bicycles from north side homes after midnight Thursday. The three boys and the bicycles were returned to Dixon last evening by Chief Van Bibber and the boys were to be taken before State's Attorney Edward Jones today for further questioning and to determine the disposition of their offenses.

Two bicycles were reported having been taken from the garage at the James Palmer home early yesterday and while police were investigating, they learned that a third wheel had been stolen from a Paul Schuck residence. Chief Van Bibber then learned that three north side boys had left home, presumably having gone to Freeport and his resultant investigation and the cooperation of the Freeport police resulted in the apprehension.

One of the bicycles had been sold for $3 and the other two hidden east of Freeport when the proprietor of a second hand store questioned the boys relatives to the manner in which they came into possession of the wheels and they hurriedly departed. Their presence in the second hand store was reported to the police and they were seen hiding the two remaining bicycles and then starting off toward Rockford. They were only a short distance from the Freeport city limits when a city motorcycle officer and a state highway police officer overtook them and returned them to Freeport police station where they were turned over to the Dixon chief after locating the three stolen bicycles.

Wisconsin Man Held for Killing His Sweetheart by Running Over Her With Tireless Wheel of Auto

Fond Du Lac, Sept. 15—(AP)—Lawrence Kilmer, 29, was held without bail today for the death of his sweetheart, 22-year-old Agatha Arnold, who apparently was run over and killed by a tireless automobile wheel.

The girl was found lying on a highway yesterday after authorities said she and Kilmer had quarreled and left a roadhouse. She died later in hospital.

Pieces of her clothing lay scattered along the highway and an automobile tire leaned against a post near the blood-stained spot where she was found.

Cowering in a farm field, Kilmer was taken by a posse which surrounded him. He pleaded innocence to a charge of murder, insisting the girl was fatally hurt when "she fell out of the car." His preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 27.

Under-sheriff G. W. Booth said witnesses told him there was an argument over drinks at the road house and Kilmer twice shoved the girl to the floor. When the proprietress objected, the couple left.

Kilmer's attention to the girl had been opposed by the Arnold family. Several months ago, police said, Agatha's father shot at Kilmer but the bullets went wild.

CITY WORKER IS SHOT TO DEATH IN BARBER CHAIR

Chicago Policeman's Marksmanship Got Two of Killers

Chicago, Sept. 15—(AP)—Joseph Adducci, a city employee, was slain today by a trio of assassins who shot him to death as he sat in a barber's chair in the Roseland district of the far south side.

Police Sergeant Russell Richards engaged the gunmen in a gun battle as they fled from the shop. He shot one of them through the head and wounded one of his companions, but two of the gunmen escaped in an automobile.

Adducci, who works for the Chicago water pipe extension department, was in a chair in the shop, operated by August Thomas, when his assailants, revolvers in hand, rushed into the place. One of the intruders shot Thomas aside and, without a word, the execution squad fired several bullets into Adducci's head.

Two Gunmen Shot
Their weapons still smoking, the three men ran into the street. Sergeant Richards saw them, drew two guns and blasted away at them. In the ensuing exchange of volleys one of the gunmen fell with a bullet in his head. The other two reached their automobile, but one of them, struck by a bullet, stumbled and sprawled on the running board. He clung as his confederate drove the car away.

The man left behind, swarthy and about 30, was taken to a hospital but physicians said he had a slight chance to survive. When picked up from the sidewalk, he still held a gun from which three cartridges had been fired.

City officials said Adducci had an exemplary record and had been in their employ for 15 years. He is survived by his wife and seven children.

Lindbergh Takes Liking to Saddle and Cowboy Outfit

Woodward, Okla., Sept. 15—(AP)—A "ten-gallon" hat, cowboy boots and spurs was the costume laid out today for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

"Lindy," who has seen much of the world from the cockpit of an airplane, has taken a liking to the saddle since he and his wife became the impromptu guests of a rancher when they were forced down 28 miles north of here last Thursday.

The occasion for the cowboy regalia today was the Woodward annual rodeo at which Lindbergh has tentatively promised to ride with the broncho busters. The hat and boots were presented to the colonel by a neighbor of the rancher-host.

Both Lindy and his wife made a big hit with the farm folk, who quickly dubbed Mrs. Lindbergh "Smiling Anne."

Two Deny Part in Benton Kidnaping Attempt Wednesday

St. Louis, Sept. 15—(AP)—Two St. Louis men, arrested for questioning here concerning the attempted abduction of Miss Jane Treadwell, 16-year-old daughter of a Benton, Ill., coal company official, signed waivers for extradition to Benton.

The men admitted, police said, they were in Benton on business Wednesday, but denied knowledge of invasion of the home of Harry Treadwell, general superintendent of the Chicago, Wilmington, & Franklin County Coal Company, and the kidnap attempt.

Phillips, former sheriff of Lee county, who passed away a few weeks ago, died suddenly this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Neva Moran at Alhambra, Cal. News of her sudden passing was received by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Robinson at noon today. Mrs. Phillips had been in declining health for some time. ## Detroit-to-Warsaw Flier is All Set Detroit, Sept. 15—(AP)—Stanley P. Hausner, Polish-American flier, said today that if weather conditions are favorable he will take off from here Sunday afternoon on his proposed non-stop flight to Warsaw, Poland, a distance of 5,600 miles.

Hausner attempted to fly from New York to Warsaw in 1932 but was forced down in the Atlantic after covering 2,800 miles.

He drifted eight days in his disabled plane before being picked up off the coast of Portugal.

American Defender Holds Lead Over Challenger In First America's Cup Race

Rainbow Kept Ahead of Endeavor in Initial Race

Aboard U. S. C. G. Cutter Argo off Newport, R. I., Sept. 15—(AP)—Rainbow, the American defender, was leading the British challenger Endeavour by two minutes, 40 seconds as they rounded the half way mark in the first of their series for the America's Cup.

Rainbow rounded the windward mark at 1:42:40 and Endeavour at 1:45:21.

Rainbow was somewhat tardy in breaking out her spinnaker. Her crew set a parachute spinnaker but two and a quarter minutes were devoted to the task. Endeavour's crew required only a minute and a half to get similar sail when she finally rounded the mark.

Breeze Was Light
Beating to windward in a light breeze that never exceeded nine knots Rainbow required three hours, two minutes and 40 seconds to negotiate the first 15 miles of the 30 mile course.

From the halfway mark to the finish line was a run to leeward making it very probable that the yachts would finish within the time limit of 5 hours, 30 minutes.

The race was started at 9:40 A. M. (EST) with the defender having about a minute the best at the start.

The American yacht had better way on at the preparatory signal. Rainbow was out at the buoy while Endeavour was close under the stern of the committee boat.

Roosevelt Witness
The course gave the yachts a fifteen mile beat to windward against a light southeast breeze which had freshened slightly. The course takes the yachts to a point about four miles west of the Island of No Mans Land.

If the President was getting any sort of a view of the contest it must have been through a pair of powerful binoculars as the Nourmahal, Vincent Astor's yacht from which he was watching the race, was firmly imbedded in the spectator fleet.

On the run down the wind it became apparent at 1:34 P. M. (EST) that Rainbow was slowly increasing her lead. The breeze had become so light that there was some question whether the yachts could finish within the time limit.

Chinese Official Denies Wheat Loan Bought Munitions

Shanghai, Sept. 15—(AP)—H. H. Kung, finance minister of the National government, denied today that money obtained as a loan from the United States to buy wheat and cotton has been diverted to the purchase of munitions and aircraft.

China has used and will continue to use the $10,000,000 wheat loan exclusively for productive purposes, the minister said.

He issued his denial upon receipt of advices from Washington that Chairman Nye said the senate munitions committee has evidence indicating China used funds from the loan to purchase guns and airplanes.

MORRO CASTLE'S CREW'S REPORTS ARE PRIVILEGED

Federal Judge Refuses to Order Them Given U. S. Attorney

LIEVAN SCHOOL DIST. AFFAIRS MAY BE PROBED

States Attorney Edw. Jones Considering Jury Inquiry

State's Attorney Edward Jones today threatened to take difficulties arising last spring in Lievan school district No. 31, South Dixon, which have been carried to the Illinois Supreme Court to the Lee County grand jury. Several residents of the district appeared at the county court house this morning to air the difficulties, whereupon the County Prosecutor threatened to call for a grand jury investigation into conditions.

The trouble was the outgrowth of a spirited election for a director which was carried into the county court, where a hearing lasted for the greater part of three days, at the conclusion of which Judge Leech declared Claire Baker to be the legally elected and qualified member of the school board.

Following the decision of Judge Leech, the case was appealed to the Supreme court when a Sterling attorney was retained by those who were opposed to Baker's victory. According to reports today, a writ of supersedeas has been issued by Judge Shaw of Freeport, member of the Supreme Court, removing Baker from the position of director and other alleged difficulties were said to have arisen in the matter of employing a teacher for the school.

New York, Sept. 15—(AP)—Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox today denied a request of U. S. Attorney Martin Conboy to compel attorneys of the Ward Line to produce statements they had obtained from officers and crew of the burned liner Morro Castle.

The judge acted by granting a motion of the Ward Line to quash a subpoena which had been served upon them by Conboy. The motion was made on the ground that the statements obtained from officers and crew of the liner after the burning of the ship were "confidential and privileged, and not lawfully subject to subpoena."

The federal grand jury, which is investigating the burning of the Havana-to-New York luxury liner a week ago off the Jersey coast, with the loss of 134 or more lives, has subpoenaed William W. Tripp, an engineer cadet of the ship.

Escaped With Log
The Boston Record says in a copyrighted account, that Tripp escaped from the ship with the engine room log and turned it over later to the Ward Line, which operated the Morro Castle.

The Record quoted Conboy as saying he expected federal authorities to demand immediate production of the log book.

The newspaper said the missing log book shows an "amazing confusion" of orders at the time the fire was raging. Tripp, a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was at the ship's telegraph board at the time the fire started.

To Hear Alagna
New light on the tragedy also is expected to come from George Alagna, second radio operator on the Morro Castle who was held as a material witness and released after he assured the authorities of his willingness to testify. Alagna said he "told the facts of what I saw," adding that he could say nothing which would "incriminate or libel anybody."

"That is for the grand jury," he said.

Headmaster of Northfield, Mass. Boys School Mysteriously Slain as He Sat Reading in His Study

Northfield, Mass., Sept. 15—(AP)—The slaying of Elliott Speer in the study of his home on the campus of Mount Hermon school remained a mystery today as state police sought for clues.

Speer, principal of the boys school, was shot to death last night as he sat reading. An assailant fired through a window overlooking a spacious lawn. Several shotgun pellets entered Speer's chest and state police dug several others from a wall. Two jagged holes in the curtainless closed window remained as evidence of the shooting.

The wife of the 35-year-old headmaster and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Welles, the only

Strike News of Today Condensed for Quick Reading

(By The Associated Press)

Resignation of Hugh S. Johnson as national recovery administrator was demanded today by the strike committee of the United Textile Workers of America.

In a statement demanding his resignation, issued in Washington, D. C., the committee attacked Johnson for his declaration last night that the textile strike violated an agreement.

A dynamite bomb shattered the surface calm today on the Carolina strike front.

The bomb was directed at the E. M. Holt plaid mill at Burlington, N. C. No one was injured, but the explosion broke windows for 50 feet along the mill front.

Previously, quiet had prevailed in the Carolinas, as mills closed for the week end. Sixty units of National Guardsmen remained at their posts in the strike area.

More troops stood by in Georgia for a call to strike duty. A unit of the National Guard at Valdosta, Ga., received orders to mobilize and be ready to leave early Monday for an unannounced destination.

Two companies of the Georgia National Guard were ordered out yesterday, for strike duty at Atco, Georgia.

In other textile areas, week-end holiday quiet prevailed, but north and south, Guardsmen patrolled.

Nearly 2,000 were on duty at Waussocket and Saylesville, R. I., the scene of recent rioting in which three persons were killed and more than 300 injured.

The International Labor Defense demanded the impeachment of Governor Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island.

In a telegram of the Rhode Island legislature, the labor defense asserted that Governor Green had misused his executive power for personal profit in calling out troops to break the strike.

Ten companies of the Connecticut National Guard stood ready for emergency call.

Francis Gorman, national strike leader, replied, "I would have expected nothing else from General Johnson. He is a member of the cotton textile code authority even though he has never attended a meeting of the code authority. It should be expected that he would support his partners on that body."

Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, who attended the New York meeting at which Johnson spoke last night, answers it with a statement that the speech was "unwarrantable" and an "attack upon organized labor."

President Roosevelt, leaving for the international yacht races off Newport, indicated that new view.

DIVORCEE HELD FOR MURDER OF HER SON OF 13

Indianapolis Man for Whom She Kept House Also Held

Indianapolis, Sept. 15—(AP)—Mrs. Jimmie Dillon, 35, was detained by police today pending an investigation of the slaying of her 13-year-old son Donald.

Met by detectives as she returned yesterday from burying her son, whose mutilated body was washed out of a sewer Tuesday, Mrs. Donald was taken to headquarters where Lieut. Donald Tooley said "she told conflicting stories."

Gilbert Jacobs, 37-year-old punch press operator, for whom Mrs. Dillon kept house, also was held. Jacobs went to room at the Dillon home a short time before Mrs. Dillon and Shirley Dillon were divorced more than a year ago.

Both Jacobs and Mrs. Dillon told officers they went downtown to meet another man Sunday night and returned to find Donald gone. Also missing was a .22 caliber rifle. When the boy's body was found two 22 bullets were in the brain, and there were evidences of mistreatment and an attempt to drown him.

Johnston, in his address, said his "heart weeps" for George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute and spokesman for the mill owners in the present labor dispute. "I know what kind of opposition he went up against," Johnston said.

Sloan, Johnston went on "got x x x concessions for labor which he posed by practically the whole industry. It is a pity that he now has to take the rap in the disension between labor and management of the whole proposition."

Johnston criticized Norman Thomas, Socialist, for taking up cudgels in the strike. "When a strike becomes political," he stated, "it has no place in the lexicon of NRA."

Cited Agreement
The NRA administrator said that he and McMahon, head of the textile workers union, reached an understanding last June when a strike was threatened in the industry. On that understanding, according to Johnston, the strike was called off.

Shortly before Johnston spoke George A. Sloan issued a statement in which he said that "the vast majority of the workers in the cotton textile industry have no dispute with their employers."

He called attention—as did Johnston later—to an increase of 140,000 in the number of workers in the industry under the first 12 months of its operation under the code.

LATTER CALLS STRIKE BREAKING OF PLEDGE

Gen. Johnson States Textile Union Leaders Broke Word

Aragon, Ga., Sept. 15—(AP)—A man identified as "Nap" Brown, a former textile worker, was shot to death here last night from an automobile and two men booked as Pinky Osborn and Otto De Vane are in jail at Cedartown for investigation.

Atlanta, Sept. 15—(AP)—Two regiments of infantry and 65 special units of the Georgia National Guard have been ordered mobilized, and the artillery regiment at Savannah, to stand by for possible duty in connection with the textile strike. The order affects about 3,000 officers and men.

Burlington, N. C., Sept. 15—(AP)—A dynamite bomb directed at the E. M. Holt plaid mills, scene of yesterday's rioting, shook Burlington early today.

Riding in an automobile, several persons drove past the plant, which is located on a highway, and threw the bomb into the mill yard.

The explosion was terrific, and the concussion felt for blocks, but little damage was done. Windows in the mill were shattered along a 50-foot front, but the machinery was unharmed.

New York, Sept. 15—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson's charge that organized labor, in calling a strike of textile workers, had broken its word to him drew answering fire today from Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

Said Johnson, in a Carnegie Hall address last night to various code authorities:

"The present strike is an absolute violation of an understanding between Thomas F. McMahon, (president of the United Textile Workers) and myself."

Said Woll:

"Johnson, by his unwarrantable utterances and prejudiced intrusion into the textile situation, has made for greater difficulties in composing existing differences."

Johnson said that this, his first experience with organized labor in the textile industry, "was not encouraging."

"If such agreements of organized labor are worth no more than this, then that institution is not such a responsible instrumentality as can make contracts on which this country can rely," he added.

Woll, who was among those who heard Johnson speak, said in a statement issued after the meeting:

"Representing the President as he (Johnson) does, it ill becomes him as administrator of NRA to manifest his personal feelings and prejudices against labor and in a matter of such vital public interest and grave public concern."

"Despite Johnson's attack on organized labor, the labor movement will go on. I am confident that textile workers can and will answer Johnson."

REBUILDING OF STOCKYARDS IN
CHICAGO BEGUN1,100 Men Start Work
Replacing Burned
Buildings

Chicago, Sept. 15—(AP)—There was a great hue and cry at the stock yards today as eleven hundred men bent to the task of reconstructing the great pens and buildings destroyed in the recent $5,500,000 fire.

Carpenters, masons, architects, steel joists, contractors, hod carriers and huskies hurried about the business of rebuilding, replacing and repairing fourteen buildings damaged or destroyed in the devastating fire of last May. The air was hazy with cement dust. From every side came the snort of the crane engines, the rumble of trucks, the screech of elevator whistles, the staccato rat-tat of riveters' hammers and the hiss of live steam from the tuck pointers' hose.

New Amphitheater

Most of the activity centered about the sturdy skeleton of the "new and greater International Livestock amphitheater." It has sprung from the ruins of the arena laid waste by the holocaust. Fronting on Halsted street, it covers a site 310 by 525 feet. The mammoth pile is fastened along the rocky lines of a field house. In the lofty central portion, a high arched roof covers — show rings square, two-story wings crop out to the north and south. Tiers of seats will be placed around the big arena. Above them an arrangement of mezzanine boxes and a full balcony will be built.

Like Opera House

All will be furnished in the comfortable style of the opera, said O. T. Henkle, general manager of the Union Stock Yards & Transit Company. The seating capacity of the old structure will be doubled and all the ideas engendered by 35 years of experience will be embodied in the equipment of the place where each year the kings of the grain growers and the monarchs of domestic herds are crowned and acclaimed.

B. H. Heide, general manager of the International Livestock Exposition, announced that the amphitheatre will be dedicated on Dec. 1, the opening date of the 35th annual show.

Some Lines Are Those of Beauty

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer
Lines and wrinkles! At the mere mention of them the average woman looks horrified. If she hasn't any, she worries about how soon they will develop. If she already has acquired a few, she frets about the ways to eliminate them and each hour she spends thinking about them lays the foundation for another line somewhere on her face.

Obviously, then, one good way to avoid unattractive lines is to keep in a pleasant frame of mind. I say unattractive and I mean just that. There are lovely expression lines, too.

I know a woman who has lines around her mouth, tiny ones stretching outward from the corners of her laughing eyes and several across her forehead. Yet she is one of the most attractive persons I ever have met. Her face is alive with enthusiasm and joy of living.

Hers has not been an easy life. She's had trouble of all kinds and responsibilities that would have embittered almost anyone. Her experiences have left their mark on her face, of course, but when you look at her, you know full well that each experience has made a kinder, more tolerant, even a greater person. And the lines only serve to point up the fact.

Remember that the lines in your face show what you are. They're ugly if the person beneath is petty, vindictive, intolerant and jealous of the happiness of others. They're beautiful on a woman who had kept on smiling when things went wrong and done unto others as she'd be done by. Lines, in themselves shouldn't worry anyone. It's the kind they are that counts.

Special numbers were furnished by each society in the group. In the evening Mrs. Isaac, Dixon directed a silver medal oratorical.

Add Planks to Make Kitchen Platform Popular

By MARY E. DAGUE
(NEA Service Staff Writer.)
Have you seen the individual planks in the house-furnishing shops? They make the serving of various planked meats a joy forever because the heated board serves to keep the foods hot and appetizing while the meat in its border of colorful vegetables all sizzling—will tempt the most fastidious.

While fillet of beef is always high in price, when you take into account the lack of waste in bone and fat, you must acknowledge that you are getting full value for your money. More than this, fillet of beef never is regarded as everyday fare, but as a delicacy to be served only on important occasions.

One of the nicest ways to serve fillet of beef is on individual planks. When fillet of beef is cut in slices and Frenched and trimmed it is known as "fillet mignon." Then these slices are broiled or pan-fried and served with a thin, carefully seasoned sauce with or without vegetables as convenient. If served on individual planks with the effect is sumptuous.

Planked Fillet Mignon With Vegetables
One and one-half pounds beef tenderloin, small silver skinned onions, carrots, peas, turnips, potato marbles, string beans, lima beans, broccoli, mushrooms.

Trim the tenderloin, removing all the fat and nerves. Cut in four thick slices and "French." To French tenderloin of beef, place slice cut side down on a firm surface and flatten slightly with one blow with the flat side of a meat cleaver. Trim off ragged edges, reserving them to use the second day. Dip slices in melted butter and broil first on one side and then on the other. When the first side is cooked, sprinkle lightly with salt and salt the second side when it is cooked. Broil six minutes on each side and remove to hot planks. Surround with vegetables which have been cooked separately and well seasoned with butter and put the whole thing into a hot oven to finish cooking the meat and reheat the vegetables. Pour the liquor in the broiling pan over the meat before serving.

Roast Fillet of Beef
Two pounds beef tenderloin
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
4 thin slices fat salt pork
Wipe meat and remove fat, if there is any. Veins and nerves. Cut salt pork in thin narrow strips and lay across top of fillet. Arrange strips in bottom of roasting pan and put meat on them. Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper and put into a very hot (500 degrees F.) oven, for twenty minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (400 degrees F.) and roast forty minutes, basting three times with drippings in the pan. Remove to hot platter and serve with mushroom sauce.

To make mushroom sauce, move pork strips from roaster and pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat. Add 2 tablespoons flour and cook and stir until bubbling and very browned. Slowly add 1 cup water, stirring constantly and bring to the boiling point. Add 1 cup of cleaned mushroom caps sautéed in a separate pan in butter and four tablespoons mushroom liquor.

To obtain mushroom liquor, scrape stems and put in pan in which caps were sautéed. Add cold water to cover and cook slowly until liquor is reduced to 4 tablespoons.

entire evening and proved to be most amusing. Afterwards Mrs. Fisher served a delicious luncheon with garden flowers as the attractive decorations. Following this a miscellaneous shower was held for Mrs. Gerdes, each one presenting her with a lovely gift accompanied by their good wishes for happiness.

The guests and the hostess were all fellow workers of Mrs. Gerdes, at Woolworth's store.

Roast Fillet of Beef
Two pounds beef tenderloin
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
4 thin slices fat salt pork
Wipe meat and remove fat, if there is any. Veins and nerves. Cut salt pork in thin narrow strips and lay across top of fillet. Arrange strips in bottom of roasting pan and put meat on them. Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper and put into a very hot (500 degrees F.) oven, for twenty minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (400 degrees F.) and roast forty minutes, basting three times with drippings in the pan. Remove to hot platter and serve with mushroom sauce.

To make mushroom sauce, move pork strips from roaster and pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat. Add 2 tablespoons flour and cook and stir until bubbling and very browned. Slowly add 1 cup water, stirring constantly and bring to the boiling point. Add 1 cup of cleaned mushroom caps sautéed in a separate pan in butter and four tablespoons mushroom liquor.

To obtain mushroom liquor, scrape stems and put in pan in which caps were sautéed. Add cold water to cover and cook slowly until liquor is reduced to 4 tablespoons.

Other "cage" fashions include enormous puffed-out sleeves gathered in at shoulder and wrist.

Boned bodices are shown on some evening gowns, the stiffening keeping them in place without the use of shoulder straps.

Other designs are of oriental inspiration, including embroidered trousers worn under a lace skirt.

Can Vegetables Soups and Salads

NEA Service Staff Writer
By MARY E. DAGUE
Now the time to find market bargains of vegetable odds and ends that can be canned and bottled in appetizing combinations for winter use in chutneys, preserves, soups and salads. A little of this and a smidgen of that will produce some astonishingly palatable flavors to brighten the long winter days that will be here before we know it.

An excellent soup mixture to add to meat stock is made by filling a sterilized jar with layers of all the vegetables at hand. Late peas, beans, carrots, corn, celery, okra, tomatoes, onions, turnips, cauliflower and cabbage can be used. The mixture is canned according to the usual hot-pack method, processing the cans for the period required by the vegetable needing the longest time.

Can Salads, Too
Salad mixtures canned in slightly sweetened vinegar are fresh and delicious tasting when served in the winter with plain French or mayonnaise dressing. They are good, too, added to jellied salad. Lima beans, small uncut beans, carrots, red and green peppers, silver skinned onions and cucumbers are particularly good for this purpose. With the exception of cucumbers which should be soaked over night in salt solution, the vegetables are prepared as for canning.

When vegetables are ready, pack them in sterilized jars and pour over a solution made by bringing to the boiling point 3-4 cup sugar, 1-4 cup water, 2 cups vinegar and 2 teaspoon salt. Process in hot water bath for 30 minutes or at ten pounds pressure for ten minutes.

Fruits are canned in light syrup for salads.

Soup Mixture
One cup lima beans, 1 cup corn cut from cob, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 cup diced celery, 1 small onion minced, 4 cups diced tomatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoons minced parsley.

Prepare vegetables as for the table. Combine and bring to the boiling point. Add salt and boil five minutes. Pack in sterilized jars, half-seal and process in hot water bath for three hours or under ten pounds pressure for forty-five minutes.

Of course this combination can be varied to suit the vegetables at hand, but tomatoes should be included in all mixtures, as their acidity aids in preserving the vegetables.

MUST WE STILL RETAIN AN ANCIENT CONCEPT?

Mr. J. H. Shouse's recent assertion — in reply to a White House criticism—that human rights and property rights are inseparable, suggests that we need to reexamine the whole question of what constitutes freedom.

The inter-relationship of human and property rights dates back to the Dark Ages. The legacy of law and order that came down from the Roman empire was little better than a memory. For the ordinary man, might made right, and it did no good to cry about it.

In those days the common man was little better than property himself. He was attached to the soil, and his life was at the mercy of his overlord. The whole development of feudalism was simply the story of society's effort to evolve some kind of protection for him.

When the common man of those days tried to win a little freedom for himself, he had no abstract concepts of liberty in mind. Our modern concern over freedom of speech and conscience would have been beyond his understanding.

Liberty, to him, meant the right to own a bit of property, and to be secure in that ownership, no matter how much the rich and powerful might covet what he had.

As the years passed, this struggle for freedom continued. The merchant in the town, the peasant on his farm, the exporter who took pack-loads of goods over makeshift roads or sent ships past the haunts of pirates—all of these people wanted, first and foremost, to be secure against the threat of dispossession.

If freedom meant anything to them, it meant that. Property rights, then, meant human rights, very directly.

Now the property right of those days was a very personal thing. The ordinary man was struggling to get out from under; he could do it only through the medium of his possessions.

To be able to do what he wished with his own was the supremely necessary first step on the road to liberty.

What we need to do today is to study whether that still holds good in a time of far-flung, impersonal corporations; to determine, for instance, whether the same sacredness attaches to a corporation's rights in a coal mine, for instance (which no stockholder has ever seen), as it does to a peasant's possession of a cow which is his family's insurance against starvation.

We might find that the fight for freedom today is on a different basis than it was centuries ago—and, on the other hand, we might not. In any case, we need a thorough public discussion of the whole subject.

PROMISING A GLORIOUS FUTURE FOR FARMERS!

If you could take all the visions of the future, as expounded by various Americans in the last year and a half, and put them end to end in the good old statistical manner, they would undoubtedly reach all the way from here to Utopia.

Perhaps it is because we are dissatisfied with our present; perhaps it is because there are signs and portents in the world indicating a time of change. Whatever the reason, the business of describing the kind of world will inhabit has never been as popular as it is now.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry W. Wallace can conjure up about as pleasant a vision as anyone; and in a recent interview in Kansas City he predicted future farmers who will work short hours, escape most of their traditional drudgery, and treat themselves to week-ends off as blithely as so many corporation lawyers.

The secretary pointed out that it usually takes about 50 years for the discoveries of science to get widespread, practical application in every-day life. So far, he said, the farmer has not taken full advantage of the possibilities of paved roads, electric power, and so on. By and by he will—and then he will begin to lead the life of Riley.

Mr. Wallace sees, for instance, the possibility of an automatic machine that would gather crops of hay and grain while the farmer sat in the shade and pressed a button. He sees, in fact, an increasing application to agriculture of the same scientific and mechanical principles that have revolutionized industry, with the farmer stepping calmly into the white collar class as a result.

One man's guess is as good as another's, when it comes to foretelling the future. But there is no very good reason for thinking that Mr. Wallace is indulging in idle fancies. Stranger things than this transformation of farm life have already happened.

Our grandfathers, used to factories wherein the 12-hour day was common, would have suspected the sanity of any man who predicted the five-day, 40-hour week. They would have goggled unbelievably if told that each factory would have to be flanked by a vacant lot, for the parking of the machines which bore the workers to and from their jobs.

The picture of a modern electric power plant, where dirt and human effort are reduced to insignificance, would have struck them as a pipe dreamer's fantasy.

We are only beginning to take advantage of the new freedom given us by applied science.

Damn those Oxford professors! I'll send some of our swine to burn down their Oxford!—Dr. Ernst ("Putzy") Hanfstaengl of Germany.

I may go back to Arizona and starve.—Lewis Douglas, former director of the federal budget.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Hey, Duncy, that's a real mean trick," cried Goldy. "You think you are slick! Why did you have to sneak off in that small boat, all alone?"

"We also like to ride, you know. Please come right back and let us go." "Oh, no," replied wee Duncy, in a tantalizing tone.

"You're always playing tricks on me. I am getting even now, you see. I'll ride around an hour or so. Then I may come to shore."

"In that time I may grow tired out, and be real glad to quit, no doubt. However, if I still feel good and fresh, I'll row some more."

"All right for you," said Dotty. "I will remember that you passed me by. Sometime you will ask a favor, but I'll turn you down."

"We thought you were a real good friend, but on you we cannot depend." In answer to her shouting Duncy merely laughed in glee. Soon Scouty cried, "Oh, look!"

He's found an island. It is small and round. I'll bet he's going to land there so that he can take a rest.

"He's having fun, just teasing us. He just wants us to start a fuss, so let's not say another word. I think that will be best."

So they all sat down on the shore, and shortly heard wee Duncy roar, "Hey, don't you wish that you were here, out on this little isle?"

"It is a funny place I've found out. I'm going to land and walk around if you behave. I may come back and get you after while."

His boat then landed, with a smack. The island was a hippo's back, and both the beast and Duncy got a sudden scare. The Tinymites heard Duncy cry, and saw the hippo rise up high. In just a moment Duncy and the boat were tossed in air.

(The Tinymites ride the old hippo in the next story.)

Infection spread, more serious conditions, such as boils and furuncles may result.

In avoiding and treating pustular involvements of the skin, one should bear in mind that the staphylococcus does not thrive or spread effectively without moisture. Therefore, keeping the skin dry is a good measure.

When pustules develop on the hairless skin, they tend to run an uneventful course, drying up and disappearing in a few days. When the pustules affect hairy regions, complications may develop. The infection tends to spread and to become chronic. Here radical treatment is desirable. The hair should be clipped short, crusts removed, pustules opened and the area painted with a two per cent silver nitrate solution.

In this condition expert medical handling will usually bring prompt and effective relief.

Living Our Everyday Lives

HOW ARE YOU?

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

"Do not tell anyone how you are, for no one wants to know," said a cynic. In the main he was right.

The chronic inquiry does not mean much beyond an expression of goodwill, like passing the time of day.

No one wants to listen to a man telling his aches and ailments; the world has no time for it, and no interest in it at all. It has its own enough of its own.

It is only those who love us most who are troubled by our pains. Even they soon become wearied of our woes and learn to discount the recital of them by fifty per cent.

The chronic invalid drops quickly out of mind; the habitual complainer gets scant sympathy. It is better to keep our ills to ourselves—others have their own to bear.

The same applies to the man who is always dwelling upon his wrongs, and is over-anxious to set himself right in the estimation of his fellows—few of whom care.

One may have been badly treated by the world, but it is too much to expect onlookers to feel as indignant about it as he does. They have their own grievances, too.

The justice of our cause may be as clear as noonday, but if we are always insisting upon it, our friends will avoid us or they may even take sides against us.

Men are repelled by a squaler. They admire a man who contends for a cause and takes the results, but no time for a person who expects pity for his special private woes.

In fact the world cares no more about our grievances than about our aches and pains. Nor does it matter whether it agrees with our view of what is due us or not.

Anyway, it is not worth while trying to persuade it to do so. If character does not defend itself it is hardly worth defending. Silence and time do more than clamor.

Let us bear our ills, whatever they may be, bravely—grimly, if we must—and keep a brave front. If we care more for the troubles of others we shall think less of our own.

If any one has ever had a great sorrow or disaster, he knows how many others have suffered as much, and often more, and have never said a word about it.

SKIN AND PIMPLES

The skin is the body's armor. It is admirably constructed to protect the inner tissues against physical and chemical agents and bacteria.

But like most suits of armor, it has its weakness. One such weakness lies in the depressions known as the hair follicles, for here the common pus-producing germ, the staphylococcus, finds a suitable breeding place.

The skin is never free from germs of different varieties, and in consequence the staphylococcus can be found in the skin follicles of most individuals. However, the germ seldom causes damage, because it is not of itself able to break down the skin barriers.

When, however, local injury to the skin lowers its resistance, the germs are able to multiply and to do harm. Even so, how much harm the germ is able to do depends to a large extent upon the general resistance of the body. Should the resistance be high, the staphylococcus seldom forms more than a pimple inflammation. Should the resistance be low, and should the

in Friday's Crucial Contest

By Hugh S. Fullerton
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

A good many of the Giants' worries about the St. Louis threat have disappeared, banished by the strong right arm of young Hal Schumacher.

The husky young alumnus of St. Lawrence University returned the New York club to its place 5-2 games in front of the Cardinals yesterday with a 4 to 1 victory while 13,557 fans watched the second game of the highly important series.

Schumacher limited the Cards to five hits and one unearned run, allowed only two runners to reach third and smacked his sixth home run of the season to help bring about the downfall of lefty Bill Walker.

Cubs Were Idle
With only 14 more games to play the Giants also picked up half a game on the third place Cubs, whose game in Brooklyn was postponed because of the threatening weather.

The Detroit Tigers also took a long step toward clinching their pennant when they gained a full game on the Yankees to make it a 4-1-2 game margin. In a 12-inning thriller, the Tigers turned back Washington 6 to 4 while the Yanks absorbed a 12 to 5 beating from the Indians.

Three times Tiger errors let the Senators forge ahead but in the ninth Hank Greenberg tied the score with a homer, and with the count knotted for the fourth time in the 12th, Charley Gehring hit for the circuit with one on to win.

Force White Sox Win
Wes Ferrell's first inning wildness forced in a run for the White Sox and gave them a 1 to 0 victory over Boston behind Milt Gaston.

The Browns and Athletics divided a double-header, notable principally because Buck Newsom started both games for St. Louis. He left in the first after walking the first four men, and the A's won 9 to 7. St. Louis came back with a 5 to 2 victory.

The Boston Braves conquered an old "jinx" pitcher, So Johnson to beat the Reds 4 to 2 behind the seven-hit flinging of Fred Frankhouse. Rain halted the Pirates and Phillies.

THE Y. W. C. A. began as a local organization in Boston in 1856. An organization called "The Ladies' Christian Association" was formed in New York in 1858, and a branch of it later was called the Y. W. C. A. The first windmill was erected at Watertown, in 1632, it was moved to Boston Neck for better wind conditions. Boston's first medical society lasted until 1741. It was not very effective and only local in character.

CANDIDATES FOR BIG TEN TEAMS BEGIN WORKOUTS

Prospects of Teams Reviewed: Players Get Break

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Candidates for places on Western Conference football teams turned out today to get their first pumps and bruises in the opening of pre-season practice sessions. They got a break this year, with drills opening on Saturday, for there will be no workouts tomorrow, Sunday. Most of the squads will go on a schedule of two drills a day for the next two weeks, tapering off to one session a day when classes open.

Here is the situation in brief at each camp:
Minnesota—Coach Bernie Bierman's third season. Virtually all-veteran team available, headed by Pug Lund, All-America halfback. Gophers meet Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, Chicago and Wisconsin, in conference, and Nebraska and Pittsburgh in interconference games.
Michigan—Coach Harry Kipke's sixth season. Defending champions have lost veteran key-men, but have prospects of capable replacements. Meet six conference teams, Chicago, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Northwestern, along with Michigan State and Georgia Tech.
Iowa's Prospects
Iowa—Coach Ossie Solem's third season. Three members of last year's lineup, Captain Tom Moore, center, Joe Laws, quarterback, and tackle, Francis Schammel, gone. Fullback Dick Crayne nucleus of attack and better server material available; meets Northwestern, Purdue, Minnesota, Indiana and Ohio State in conference, and Nebraska in non-conference battle.
Purdue—Coach Noble Kizer's fifth season. Most of 1933 line missing, but has huge squad for replacement purposes. Duane Purvis and Jimmy Carter, great pair of backs, again on hand. Meets Wisconsin, Indiana, Chicago and Iowa in conference, and Notre Dame and Fordham in other outstanding games.
Illinois—Coach Bob Zuppke's 22nd season. Most of last year's regulars back, along with fair newcomers. Will have highest line in conference. Meets five conference opponents, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern and Chicago. Meets Army in feature of non-conference schedule.
Wildcats Sophomores
Northwestern—Coach Dick Hanley's eighth season. Probably will depend largely on sophomores, although George Peiter, 1932 quarterback, is returning. Meets Iowa, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, along with Stanford and Notre Dame.
Chicago—Coach Clark Shaughnessy's second season. Good material, but not much of it. Meets Michigan, Indiana, Purdue, Ohio State, Minnesota and Illinois.
Wisconsin—Coach Clarence W. Spear's third season. Like Northwestern, is expected to go to bat with unusual number of first-year men. Meets Purdue, Northwestern, Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota and Notre Dame.
Ohio State—Coach Francis Schmidt's first season at Columbus. Few veterans returning, but the usual promising sophomore turnout. Meets Indiana, Illinois, Northwestern, Chicago, Michigan and Iowa.
Indiana—Coach Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin's first season with Hoosiers. Material considered ordinary. Meets Ohio State, Chicago, Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue.

TWO-YEAR-OLD TITLE WILL BE DECIDED TODAY

19 Best Juveniles in Country Meet in Futurity

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The two-year-old championship was down for settlement in the turf's richest race today with 19 juveniles ready to match strides in the 45th running of the $100,000 Futurity at Belmont Park.

Survivors of an original field of 1,415, the overnight nominees included all the leading state winners with the exception of Toro Nancy, surprise winner of the Arlington Futurity and the leading money winner of the division to date. The race will be run six and a half furlongs down the Widener straightaway.

Standing out above the others, with brilliant performances as their background, were Balladier and Boxhorn, two of the speediest colts to come out of E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour farm in recent years; Psychic Bid and Special Agent from Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Brookmeade stable that houses the three-year-old tidehider, Cavalcade; and William Woodward's Omaha, a son of the famous Gallant Fox.

The Bradley pair, with Balladier most fancied, and the Brookmeade entry with Psychic Bid the ace, were the split-favorites at 2 to 1.

M'LARNIN, ROSS AND PROMOTERS HOPE FOR BEST

Fear Another Knock- Out by Weatherman This Evening

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Hoping for the best but fearful of another knockout blow by the weather man, fight fans fumbled around today in the pockets of suits they wore last week to find their tickets for Barney Ross' welterweight title defense against Jimmy McLarnin.

They hoped—and so did the principals and the promoters—that the 15-round title battle could be put on, as scheduled, in Madison Square Garden tonight, but rain, which forced three successive postponements of the fight originally slated to be held Sept. 6, was a distinct threat once more.

Neither champion Barney nor the hard-hitting Irishman he dethroned last May appear to have lost anything by the long delay. McLarnin, especially, has put in a full week of impressive workouts. So good has the Irishman looked, as a matter of fact, that the odds have dropped from 9 to 5, to 6 to 5, with the champion still favored. Ross, likewise, seems to have held the fine edge of condition remarkably well and a close duel is in prospect.

Since there will be no broadcast, the fight will go on not later than 8 P. M. (Central Standard Time), and, in case of threatening weather, may even be pushed ahead to 7:30 or even earlier.

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—With the end of the 1934 batting races in sight, Paul Waner and Lou Gehrig continued to hold firmly to the top places in their leagues today.

Both leaders lost ground during the past week, Waner dropping six points and Gehrig three up through yesterday's games, but the averages of their outstanding rivals also fell off. The second-place batters, Bill Terry and Charley Gehring, dropped five points apiece.

WESTERN POLO TEAM FAVORED TO WIN AGAIN

But Weatherman Will Have Final Say in Today's Match

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Hard-riding knights of the saddle, representing the east and the west, were ready to plunge into the first game of the second annual international polo series on International Field of the Meadow Brook Club today.

The players and the ponies were ready, but the weatherman still held the final say. Heavy rains already had forced a full week's delay in the start of the series and overnight prospects were none too favorable for a getway today.

The western four of Ed Pedley, Cecil Smith, Elmer Boeseke and Aiden Roark—exactly the same lineup which rode over the east in the third and decisive game of the 1933 series—still ruled distinct favorites.

Most polo experts felt this side packed too much power and experience for their youthful rivals—Mike Phipps, Jimmy Mills, Winston Guest and Billy Post. Of these only Guest has played international polo.

Fog New Weapon in Oil Fires

Conquest of oil fires by fog is the latest feat in the great California fields. The blaze at the left, shown in successive fading stages, was quelled in eight seconds, though such fires often raged for days in the past. A special nozzle creates the fog from nothing more than water. Sprayed on the fire, it chokes off oxygen, absorbs the heat around the burning material, and cools it below the ignition point. Top picture, left, shows the blaze at its height; next, fog getting in its work; next, crew closing in for the finishing attack; finally, fire is out. At right is shown how the fog emerges, fan shaped, from the nozzle.

Presbyterians "Pound" Pastor
Wednesday the members of the Ashton Presbyterian church motored here and gave their pastor, Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Blekking and family an old-fashioned "pound" party. The members brought with them a picnic dinner and a very pleasant time was had by all at the manse. The minister's larder was well filled with the large amount of provisions brought by these fine folks.

80 Years Old
Mr. and Mrs. George Altenburg of Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Altenburg and family of Ashton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hardesty and family of Chana enjoyed a picnic dinner Sunday at the home of Mrs. Pauline Altenburg. The occasion being her 80th birthday anniversary. Mrs. Altenburg is among our oldest residents and has lived in this village for many years, and we join with a large circle of close friends in wishing her many more birthday anniversaries.

Shoes Noted Movie Horse
The following item will be read with interest by readers of this column, as Frank Howard is a former Franklin Grove boy, and is the son of our townsmen, John Howard, and has many friends here. The item is from the Ashton Gazette:

"The village smithy is still an important man in Ashton, for Friday morning the blacksmith shop was filled with interested onlookers as he shod a horse. The horse was a feature attraction for it was none other than Tarzan, the wonderful horse of Ken Maynard, famous western movie star. Tarzan entertained the crowd after the blacksmith Frank Howard had completed the job of shoeing, when his trainer put him through a few tricks. The party was returning to California from a theater tour of the east and an appearance in Chicago. They stopped here for will be a discussion group for the young and old, followed by a sermon by the pastor.

An invitation is extended to all to attend these services of the church.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Bowers in Chicago, Sept. 10, a son. The mother will be remembered as Miss Florence Crawford, granddaughter of Mrs. Carrie B. Crawford of this place, a daughter of the late Blair Crawford. Mrs. Bowers is well known here, having spent several summers in her grandmother's home.

P. T. A. Meeting

The September meeting of the P. T. A. will be held at the school house on Tuesday evening, September 18. This will be the first meeting of the school year and we want it to be a real "get-acquainted" meeting. It will be an opportunity for the teachers and friends of the pupils in a social way and should foster and develop a better understanding between the home and the school. This is most desirable for no educational system can ever become efficient unless the efforts of the teachers are adequately backed up by intelligent and effective cooperation in the home. We, therefore, urge all those who are interested in the work of the school to come and help make this meeting a success.

The program for the evening has been planned for adults and we feel sure that all teachers and patrons of the school will receive much inspiration from it.

The meeting will be called to order by our new president, Mrs. Beryl Fish, at 7:45 P. M. and the following program will be presented:

Community singing — Miss Hunter.

Introducing remarks — Supt. Hanson, "The Value of the P. T. A. to the School."

"The Value of the P. T. A. to the Teacher." Miss Schmidt.

"The Value of the P. T. A. to the Parent and Child"—Mrs. Mary Miller.

"The P. T. A. in Other Communities"—Mrs. Viola Holley.

Round table—Conducted by Mrs. Beryl Fish. The topic for discussion will be "Suggestions for Programs During the Ensuing Year." We trust that all will be ready to express their ideas on the subject at this time.

The hospitality committee will then take charge of the meeting. We again cordially invite and urge all teachers and patrons of the school to attend and make this a truly inspirational meeting.

The program committee is Mrs. O. D. Buck, chairman; Mrs. Frank Hatch, Mrs. George Spangler, Mrs. Mabel Henry and Supt. Hanson.

Hospitality committee—Mrs. G. A. Blocher, chairman; Miss Lucille Buck, Mrs. Will Black and Mrs. Ralph Canode.

Membership committee—Miss Blanche Colwell, chairman; Mrs. Harry Patterson, Mrs. Lloyd Group.

Girl's Travels Create Mystery

Virginia E. Gates (above), daughter to Thomas S. Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania, became the center of an unusual mystery when her disappearance from a Wyoming ranch was reported. Her family, admitting they did not know her whereabouts, insisted she was enroute to Philadelphia by motor car.

tary, Miss June Miller, gave her report of the activities of the L. T. L. for the four months, turning over to the W. C. T. U. treasurer the amount remaining in their treasury, for safe-keeping till they again convene at the beginning of next year's vacation season. This work among the children is surely worth while, and we hope that it may become a year round project in the near future.

The union decided to combine flower mission work and that of benevolence into one department—that of Flower Mission and Relief—and to take up a new department of activity, Religious Education. Plans for work in the two departments were discussed somewhat, the president to appoint the director of each, later. The tentative report of the program committee for the coming year was given by the chairman, Mrs. O. D. Buck. Mrs. Sunday read an article, "Short-Circuiting the Nervous System," from the Union Signal. The meeting then adjourned, after which the hostess served lovely refreshments, assisted by her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Jay Miller and Miss June Miller. A pleasant social period was enjoyed to the utmost.

Boys Do Good Work

Five boys from the local agricultural department of the high school won a total of $73.50 at the 4-H club and sectional vocational fairs. Donald Ramsdell, with his purebred Shropshire sheep, heads the group in total money won, his prizes totaling $30. It is to be regretted that Donald graduated last year as the school would like to have him with the class in 4-H club work for some time to come. He has made good progress with his sheep and plans to show them at the state fair next season.

Other boys showing and the prizes won at Amboy and Oregon are as follows:

Arin Vaupel—purebred Hampshire hogs, Class 1, litter, first at Amboy and third at Oregon.

Class 2 gilt—first at Amboy and fifth at Oregon. Class 3—board, sixth at Oregon. Class 4—aged sow, fifth at Oregon.

Sheldon Hoover—Hampshire hogs—gilts, second at Amboy and fifth at Oregon. Aged sow—fourth at Oregon.

Billy Black—Chester White hogs, litter, seventh at Amboy and seventh at Oregon; gilt, ninth at Amboy and third at Oregon.

Dale Vocum—litter, ninth at Amboy and eleventh at Oregon; gilt, tenth at Amboy; aged sow, second at Oregon.

John Schafer also showed a Hereford calf at Amboy, but did not succeed in winning any cash prizes. He considers his experience in the feeding, care and showing of his calf as well worth the effort. John has three more years in which to produce a winner and we hope he profits by his past experience.

The teacher L. V. Slothower has done excellent service with the boys of his department.

RESTORATION OF MONARCHY FEAR LITTLE ENTENTE

Former Empress Zita Is Said to Plan a Return to Austria

(By The Associated Press.)

European diplomacy was punctuated today with the Hapsburg question mark. Will Archduke Otto mount a restored throne in Austria?

Political observers were agitated by reports from Brussels that former Empress Zita intends to re-establish her home in Austria, fearing that this might mean the renewal of a Monarchist movement for a king.

Sentiment favoring the restoration of the Austrian throne appeared to be growing in Italy, whose Princess Maria was unofficially reported engaged to marry Otto, the son of former Empress Zita.

Official quarters in Paris indicated that a restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy would be tolerated by the French if that restoration would strengthen the Austrian opposition to the Nazis.

The British observed the royalist maneuvers with British disinterest. They were much more interested in the forthcoming marriage of Prince George and Princess Marina.

Vienne, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Reports from Brussels that the former Empress Zita intends to establish her home in Austria aroused apprehensions in many quarters today.

It was feared by many political observers that if her coming is a prelude to reestablishment of the Hapsburg monarchy Austria, Hungary and the nations of the Little Entente will be confronted with new problems which will lead to more bloodshed.

Foreign ministers of the Little Entente have frequently made the statement that an attempt to restore the Hapsburg dynasty to Austria would throw middle Europe and possibly the entire continent into war.

It was stated also that Poland probably would take a decided stand against a Hapsburg restoration. Poland is among the nations which inherited vast territories from the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

South Carolina s Governor Rivals

Olin D. Johnston

Blaise

Two veteran politicians were again at for Mr. Olin D. Johnston's nomination for governor of South Carolina which is equivalent to election in the September 11 runoff primary. Olin D. Johnston of Columbia 50 years in public life twice governor and former U. S. senator, is opposed by Olin D. Johnston Spartanburg attorney whose supporters claim he was counted out in a race four years ago when L. C. Blackwood was elected.

Shallow Water Fish Know Colors That Assure Food

The retina of the eye of all our mammals contains minute rods and cones. The rods help us to perceive the difference between light, shade and form, while the cones assist us to tell the difference between colors.

In all nocturnal animals, observes a writer in the Detroit News, the rods predominate to such an extent that they have little color sense. In some birds, and especially in the reptiles, the cones contain tiny drops of red or yellow oil which has the effect of making it impossible for them to select blue as a color.

Animals able to change their appearance to agree with the surroundings are able to distinguish colors, and many painters might envy the quick-changing artist, the chameleon.

It has been stated that all backboneless animals are color-blind, but experiments have shown that some prawns are able to distinguish colors. Fish which live in shallow water learn that certain colors denote food, but the elusive trout seems to be constantly changing his favorite hues, as fly-fishermen know.

I have sometimes whipped the water for hours without obtaining a rise, but on changing the artificial fly, and offering them one of more attractive colors, several fish have been landed. But the deep-sea fish have little opportunity of using colors since the depths are so black.

The common frog is sensitive to color, as a simple experiment will prove. Shine different colored lights upon its body, and we find that it alters the rate of its breathing with each hue.
